DEPARTMENTAL SEMINAR

Journey to Monitoring and Evaluation as Career and Lessons Learned

by

Ntina Reiersgord

Bio:

Ntina Reiersgord is a researcher and an emerging evaluator with five years of research experience. With a Master's Degree in Political Science, Ntina has a strong interest in Public Policy, Policy Evaluation and Municipal services.

She has skills set in qualitative primary research, data collection, qualitative and quantitative analysis and reporting. She has used her skill set in evaluations in areas of public employment programmes; social protection; education; and capacity building. She has previous experience in the Higher Education Sector as an Economics teaching assistant and a program manager for a study abroad program.

Her academic work in policy evaluation has examined the implementation of South African immigration policy and the theory of change underpinning education policy, to gain insight into how policies operate to achieve intended results. Ntina is also an advocate of mental health wellness as well as women empowerment. When she is not working, she can be found gaming, on Call of duty or rolling around with her cats.

The views of speakers do not necessarily reflect the views of the Department of Political Science or that of the University of Stellenbosch.
